

Naomi Tipton

Dear Reader,

Dr. Seuss has a famous saying, "Be who you are and say what you feel because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind." I think this quotation has a important meaning. I believe this saying means say what's in your heart and feel strong about what you are saying without worrying about what your saying, because it is important express yourself. Those who mind, such as strangers and critics, would have a problem with what your saying. Those who matter, such as friends and family, know you and care about what you are saying.

I agree with Dr. Seuss' saying. Those who mind don't know you and they just want to pick at you and tear you down. They will find anything and everything to criticize about what you are saying. Those who matter know you and care about you. They want to support you in all things. They care about you are saying.

You should take Dr. Seuss' advice and say what's on your mind. Don't worry about what others think or say because only those who matter have your back.